Julie is a change agent, systems analyst and program planner. She currently is the principal of Integro Consulting, L.L.C., where she uses a team-based approach to facilitate business improvements with clients. As a program manager at Children's Hospital, she led change management programs to improve efficiencies, streamline decision-making structures, and reduce duplications. At an earlier stage in her career, she was a small business owner, educator, conference coordinator and catering manager.

Julie is equally passionate about her volunteer activities. For more than a decade, she has been a business to consumer mediator with the Better Business Bureau. Her blood donations to Hoxworth Blood Center have earned her a three gallon donor pin!
